Teens Prepare to be College and Career Ready at National Cluster Meeting

FCCLA Cluster Meeting will draw youth from across the nation to Louisville, KY to focus on preparing for success in college and careers

November 9, 2018, Louisville, KY – Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) and nearly 2,000 of its youth members and adult advisers are in Louisville, KY, November 9-11 for the annual FCCLA National Cluster Meeting (NCM). These meetings provide FCCLA members with opportunities to compete in career-applicable skill demonstration competitions ranging from interviewing skills and impromptu speaking to the technology used in teaching. Youth teams also compete in events that challenge students' knowledge in personal finance, consumer responsibilities, technology, health and safety, and more. By attending NCM, students are given opportunities to demonstrate skills they've learned through FCCLA, while also exposing them to new cities, cultures, and situations that they may encounter in their colleges and careers.

"FCCLA provides students with career training that teaches the real world skills essential for career success," stated Sandy Spavone, FCCLA's Executive Director. "Many students from across the nation graduate unprepared for college and career success. FCCLA engages over 160,000 youth in career and technical student projects and leadership to provide these necessary skills to prepare for a successful future."

Attendees focus on college and career readiness, through competitive projects and workshops while also taking time to give back to their communities by making a positive impact through their service projects. While in Louisville youth will create FCCLA Care Kits that will be distributed to individuals struggling with homelessness. Through this outreach project, FCCLA members will positively impact the local community of Louisville and benefit from the experience of giving to those in need.

During this week of elections that impact our countries' success, preparing today's youth for tomorrow's roles is essential for both our youth and our nation. The FCCLA youth at this meeting are the leaders of tomorrow who will impact their communities both through their professional and personal lives. This valuable experience wouldn't be possible without a strong foundation of Family and Consumer Sciences education. Seeing youth engaged in learning and having a strong desire to succeed is impactful and inspirational to all who attend. If you need some great news about today's youth and tomorrow's future, we think you have found it here with these FCCLA youth leaders.
