

Your Partner in Learning

You are a cut above!

Congratulations on representing your chapter in FCCLA's National Culinary Knife Skills Demonstration Event. Your success has been demonstrated as you honed your knife skills through hard work and practice. Proficient knife skills are required in the culinary field, and you are well on your way to continuing success.

American Technical Publishers (ATP) is honored to partner with FCCLA to sponsor this event. ATP has supported workforce training since 1898 with innovative, high-quality products you expect from an industry leader. Our commitment to excellence in workforce training is evident in the proven products described at www.atplearning.com.

As your partner in learning, we look forward to helping you build a successful future in the culinary field.
