Sewing Safety Crime Scene

Objective: To use critical and creative thinking skills to communicate and collaborate with your group to design a crime scene that shows the importance of sewing safety.

Directions:

In groups, brainstorm various sewing safety scenarios. Come up with a plan to stage a sewing crime scene.

Please include the following:

- A picture of the crime scene
- A key to identify the at least 5 safety hazards in the picture.
- A brief explanation of how to correct the hazard safely.

Once you have completed the assignment as a group, please rate your group on: Creativity, Communication, and Collaboration and answer the following questions.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Performance Area</th>
<th>1</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>3 (Proficient)</th>
<th>4</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Creativity (How creative is the group)</td>
<td>Generates few ideas. It is hard to see what is going on in the picture; too much or too little is going on.</td>
<td>Communicates ideas to meet the challenge, but the volume is not sufficient to spark a creative process. Crime Scene is generic and similar to other groups in class.</td>
<td>Student generates high volume of clear ideas that closely address the challenge and are sufficiently detailed to spark a creative process. Crime Scene is somewhat original.</td>
<td>Generates high volume of new ideas in response to open-ended questions or problems. Crime scene is unique and original.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Communication (How well can they communicate their idea)</td>
<td>Inability to have a conversation</td>
<td>Show an ability to have conversation on topic. Gets distracted easily. Student has a hard time defending designs.</td>
<td>Shows an ability to have meaningful conversations that remain on the surface.</td>
<td>Student Shows an ability to have in-depth and meaningful conversations. Can defend the designs without hesitation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collaboration (How well does the group work together)</td>
<td>Shows a lack of willingness or hesitation to accept responsibilities. Refrains from offering feedback.</td>
<td>Shows a willingness to accept responsibilities. Sometimes accepts constructive feedback; shows minimal appreciation for constructive feedback.</td>
<td>Accepts responsibilities with a positive attitude. Consistently provides and accepts constructive feedback; delivers feedback effectively in a manner that is well-received by the recipients.</td>
<td>Shows excitement about the task at hand; inspires and motivates the group. Shows a high comfort level in providing and receiving feedback; displays curiosity about the quality of work and seeks out helpful, descriptive feedback from peers, the teacher, and experts involved; provides and receives feedback in ways that advance the group’s ability to produce high quality work.</td>
